Prime Insurance agency announced recently that Alfred Lee Dingler, president, has earned the Chartered Life Underwriter (CLU) diploma and professional designation from The American College in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

Dingler heads Prime Insurance's Financial Services department with four other professionals. Founded in 1985, Prime Insurance writes all lines of property, casualty, life and health insurance for individuals, families and businesses in Clayton, Fayette and Henry counties.

A 1985 graduate of Georgia State University, Dingler majored in risk management and insurance. He resides in Clayton County with his wife, Maria, and is a graduate of Morrow High School.

One of the nation's oldest and largest accredited, nontraditional educational institutions, The American College specializes in professional education in financial services. The CLU designation is awarded to persons who complete a 10-course program of study and examinations and fulfill rigid experience and ethical requirements. Over 67,000 people have been awarded the CLU designation since the college was founded in 1927.

The CLU program was designed by University of Pennsylvania Professor Solomon S. Huebner, who
